COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course delivers an accelerated, performance-driven approach to pistol marksmanship, designed to build speed, precision, and confidence under pressure. Students will develop the skills necessary to perform consistently and effectively with a handgun across a wide range of conditions and shooting challenges.

Training focuses on maximizing accuracy and efficiency based on target size, complexity, and distance, while reinforcing the fundamentals that drive elite-level performance. The course begins with a cold-zero evaluation to assess both shooter capability and equipment setup, establishing a baseline for improvement. Throughout the program, students will be challenged through progressively demanding drills that emphasize accountability, decision-making, and execution on demand.

The training culminates in a scored and timed movement-based shooting assessment, providing a measurable validation of the skills and performance gains achieved throughout the course.
